THE BONUS.

Editor News:

Some persons have said to me "Now the right-of-way is secured from Eagle Rock on Third street to Glendale avenue, our railroad is secure without our paying any bonus for unless they begin the road within sixty days the right-of-way will be forfeited, and nothing is said about the bonus in the deeds or in the abandonment proceedings; and Mr. Goode and those who are behind him will rather build the road without the bonus than lose the right-of-way. Therefore we needn't trouble ourselves to pay any bonus. This in substance. I do not know that, his is true, but granting that it be so, I do not think we are treating Messrs. Goode and Blackburn justly, now, as we would like ourselves to be treated, to take such a course as this after all the hard work they have put in in our behalf. There are times when we are unable to do what others expect of us, and we are often misjudged on this account. I frequently regret it myself, but I can have but small admiration for any person who is willing to be unfair just because circumstances give him an opportunity—or for a person who is willing to hold back and let his neighbors give for some public enterprise, and he reap his share of the benefit, just because he reasons that they will give anyhow whether he does or not. Messrs. Goode and Blackburn said they would get us this road if we would put up a bonus of $3500, and we said go ahead. It would be only a trifle if each one would do his proportionate part and the benefit directly to every one of us will be many times more than we are asked to give. Let us then not wait even to be asked, but see Mr. Ayers at once and put down our subscription. If we are not willing to do what is fair and right in this matter, it seems to me we do not deserve a railroad, even though we should get it,—which I am not sure of. Let us then act as honorable men,—let us do by Mr. Goode, after his long and patient endeavors as we would be done by. Let us show at least this much appreciation of his hard work. This bonus ought all to be subscribed within two days.

EDGAR LEAVITT.

SOME SQUASHES.

Glendale's challenge to the world to equal its 25-pound muskmelon, has not been accepted up to date. And here is another record breaker. Mr. J. E. Andrews on Verdugo Road near the corner of Third street has a Hubbard squash vine that is a wonder. Three full-grown squashes have been taken off it and 23 remain that are of marketable size, while there are as many more in different stages of growth. The vine runs along, a bit of wire fencing in one direction for about thirty feet, then spreads all over the ground to an orange tree which is about ten feet high, climbs over the top of this to the ground on the other side, mixing up green oranges and green squashes in a most promiscuous manner and then meanders at will over an area of about thirty feet square, toward a neighbor's back yard. The vine looks as vigorous as if in the early stages of growth and promises to mature the full crop that now hangs upon it.

GLENDALE TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP GOES TO MISS LUCILE SCHULTZ AND TO MR. McLAFFERTY.

All but one of the events scheduled for Saturday were played, sets beginning in the morning. Both the club and High School courts were employed, thus dividing the rooters. There was enthusiasm enough to go around, however. The star set of the day was that played by 8-year-old Bill Balthus and his 9-year-old brother, Douglas, who put up a classy game for the dollar lying under the net for the winner. Douglas won—so did Bill! In the men's singles McLafferty defeated Oxnam in three close sets. Oxnam Brothers won men's doubles. Mr. Howe and Miss McLafferty carried off honors in mixed doubles.

Results.

Men's singles: McLafferty beat Oxnam 4-6, 8-6, 6-4.

Men's doubles: Oxnam Brothers beat Stanton and Prof. Howe, 7-5, 6-4.

Mixed doubles: Alma Stone and Walton beat Miss McLafferty and Howe, 6-1, 12-10; Miss Lucile Schultz and McLafferty beat Miss Emma Williams and Stanton, 6-4, 6-4.

Miss Schultz and McLafferty beat Miss Austine George and Balthus, 6-4, 6-5, 6-4. Darkness postponed the playing of the final set.

List of Prizes.

Ladies' singles, first and second prizes, handsome white sweaters, won by Miss Lucile Schultz and Alma Stone.

Men's singles: Thermal bottle.

Ladies' doubles: Handsome gray snakeskin bags.

Men's doubles: Best tennis rackets and cases.

Women's singles: Handsome silver cup by Miss Lucile Schultz.

MUSICAL AT MASONIC HALL TONIGHT.

Our people will have an opportunity tonight of hearing a trio of noted artists who have been secured by the Masons for their entertainment this evening. Mr. Fordyce Hunter, the pianist, and Mr. Eugene Nowland, violinist, are our fellow-townsmen for the time being, as they reside in North Glendale. Both are performers of high merit with varied experience in concert work in this country and in Europe. They are just entering upon a series of performances at Blanchard Hall in Los Angeles, which promises to be one of the principal musical events of the season. In their repertoire special attention is given to American composers, one of these being Riccardo A. Lucchesi, of San Francisco, at present in Los Angeles who has achieved a high place in his line of work. The selections from the masterpieces. The third of the trio is Mr. Frederick Guttererson, cellist, a pupil of Anton Hekking. Mr. Nowland, by the way, is the possessor of a violin nearly three hundred years old, antedating Stradivarius, an instrument of wonderful tone and melody which he uses in his concert work.

Our popular local tenor, Mr. Spencer Robinson, is also on the program and Miss Blanche Wilson will read.

THAT BONUS.

We call attention to the communication in another column in regard to the bonus asked for to assure the building of the two miles of railroad to Eagle Rock. The communication expresses our views in the matter and we would add emphasis to it if possible. There is no good excuse for anyone who has any material interest in Glendale refusing to aid this project if he is financially able to do so, and we cannot conceive of any property-holder along or near the proposed road being in this condition. Everybody within reach of it will receive a benefit from it and even our people quite remote from the proposed line will receive benefits indirectly. Every citizen who rides over the road paying the proposed reasonable fare, will show by such action that he acknowledges the benefit directly received and in all equity he should be willing to assist his neighbors to secure it. We will not get the road unless we pay for it—the price asked is very reasonable and it will be little short of disgraceful, particularly to that section of our town directly benefited if the bonus is not raised before the time expires.

FORT-HOLDERS.

To Mr. C. Ingraham, Mr. John Parker, Mrs. A. C. Reed of Hollywood and Mrs. Fred Deal, who held their fort until it fairly bristled with trophies, went handsome honors last Saturday evening, at the pretty little military whist party given in their new home on Louise street by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Monroe.

The affair was in the nature of a celebration, it being the fifth wedding anniversary of the host and hostess, and the artistic rooms were brightened effectively with rich red roses and fragrant carnations, combined with greenery. Little Blythe Monroe, assisted in dispensing hospitality and furnished her share of amusement for the guests. Seven tables were filled. About thirty-three were present, several coming from Los Angeles and nearby towns, all old friends of former days. A delightful little supper marked the close of festivities.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. S. Lawrence Ward entertained at the "Manse" interested workers identified with Presbyterian Aid Society work. Two quilts were worked upon and reports turned in by "Receipt Book" committees. Refreshments were served. The first meeting following the summer vacation of St. Mark's Episcopal Guild was called at "The Priory" home of Mrs. Edgar W. Pack, on Thursday afternoon. The afternoon was devoted to completion of plans for the winter's work.

On Wednesday afternoon a number of the members of the local W. C. T. U. having discovered that Mrs. W. B. Gaylord, the president of the club, was having a birthday, descended upon her in force. Arriving at her home they discovered that the day was also the anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord. It was a close call for Mr. Gaylord, who would otherwise have been left out, maybe, but the happy combination of important events made him an important factor in the entertainment which ensued and passed happily for all concerned. The visitors had brought refreshments which were served, after which with many good wishes the visitors departed.

A NEW HOTEL.

Every day that passes emphasizes the need of a hotel in Glendale large enough and managed in a way that would not only give the necessary accommodations to all comers, but that would add by a reputation which such a caravansary might readily acquire, to attract travelers to our valley. We have one small hotel and two or three good boarding houses, but they are entirely inadequate to meet the demand. During the tourist season just passed, it has sometimes been almost impossible for the transient visitor here to secure a night's lodging, while a place where he could secure all the comforts of home could not be found that was able to accommodate him. A good hotel is one of the best mediums for advertising any place where it is situated, which has merit to back it. Transients may go to a home-like hotel to sleep, but they frequently remain to buy land and grow up with the community. Just at present, of course, our local places of entertainment are not overcrowded, but the season is rapidly approaching when the rush towards California from all parts of the world will begin and we should be prepared to get our share of it.

A PROHIBITION MEETING.

The Prohibition League of Glendale held a rousing meeting last Monday evening at the old city hall, a large number of enthusiastic members being present. A good report of the public meeting held last Friday week at Odd Fellows' hall was given.

A committee was appointed to prepare a list of Republican and Democratic voters who favor prohibition of the liquor traffic, that the league may be able to pair them for our cause at the coming presidential election.

Stirring remarks were made on the supervisory candidacy, by Messrs. Hiram Ogden, Edgar Leavitt, Elias Ayers, M. Z. Remsburg, W. E. Tarr, Rev. J. F. Moody, J. C. Lennox, G. W. Johnson and others.

A motion was carried to send letters to each of the candidates for supervisor, asking them to define their exact position on the question of the prohibition of the liquor traffic, etc.

Other detail business was transacted. The league resolved to meet again next Monday evening in the same place at the old city hall, and we invite our citizens to come and hear all about our plans and be neighborly with us.

SECRETARY.

Oddfellows' Hall was well filled Thursday evening by an audience gathered to listen to a debate on the question, "Resolved, That the election of Wm. J. Bryan will be of more benefit to the American people than the election of any other candidate." Howard C. Tripp upheld the affirmative, as a Democrat, and A. R. Holston, Socialist candidate for congress, the negative. Both men are good speakers, and the debate was conducted fairly, while the indiscriminate abuse which so often characterizes Socialist talk was not indulged in. Each speaker showed quite conclusively that his opponent's candidate should not be supported, but the arguments in support of either Debs or Bryan were few and weak. Mr. Tripp made a convincing plea for individualism as against socialism, which was apparently not well appreciated by his generally pro-Socialist audience.

The ladies served earnestly all day for the poor, mostly little ones whose mothers are wage-earners. The ladies in departing declared themselves delighted with the amount of labor accomplished and with the rare hospitality of their hosts.

Only four weeks until election day, and General Apathy still in command.

Bulgaria has a Caesar and is reminding the world that it is still on the map, while Turkey is preparing to wipe it off.

Mr. William Randolph Hearst continues to throw things at the other fellows. Let us be thankful to Willie for making things interesting.

The young man who shot himself at Niagara the other day, might have attained the same end and saved ammunition by shooting the falls.

Some enthusiastic admirer of Bryan calls him the Democratic Moses. Watch him take to the bullrushes along Salt River about November 3d.

Citizens of Glendale are reminded that house members cost five cents apiece and are handy things to have in the family, particularly on the front door.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., has gone to work in a carpet factory. In the course of his experience he will, no doubt, discover that however fine a carpet may be, a broomstick may beat it!

Jud Rush thinks he is running for Congress and promises that if he should be elected he will get the consent of Speaker Cannon to orate as often as he wants to or "know the reason why." Jud would be a mighty swell rushlight in the halls of Congress.

Concerts have been crowding one another rather closely in Glendale recently. The indications are good for an exceedingly lively social season here during the coming winter. Would it not be well to mix in a lecture course with the music and "Surprise" parties?

An elephant killed a woman at Riverside a few months ago and a bear clawed an infant at Tucson last Sunday. Perhaps our "ex" president might be induced to come west after the fourth of March and protect us from wild beasts, instead of going to Africa.

PUT AN INSPECTOR ON THE JOB.

The foundation for the new High School building is now being laid. It would seem that at this particular stage of the work, when it is so easy to shove sand into the foundation trenches without the formality of mixing it with cement, the opportunity for doing such work should not unnecessarily be left open. Presumably the architect is being paid a good percentage for overseeing the job, but as he only appears on the scene at occasional intervals, such oversight is not satisfactory to the taxpayers. An inspector should be placed on the job at once even if his employment means an additional expense to the taxpayers.

THE SCHOOL BOOK BUSINESS.

If there is any one thing in the state of California which should be thoroughly investigated, it is the school book business. The system which requires a pupil to get new books to the extent of anywhere from one to ten dollars every school year is disgraceful. Parents unfortunate enough to have several children to provide for naturally look forward with dread to the opening of school.

The California school books are published by the state and should be sold to pupils at cost. If the state cannot furnish books cheaper than the price at which they are sold, the state should acknowledge its incompetency and go out of the publishing business. The system is at fault which requires a pupil in the High School, for instance, to pay several dollars for drawing materials and tools, when the same could as well be supplied by the school and furnished at a nominal expense to pupils as required, without their being obliged to buy them outright. There is a large profit in the school book business, but it does not go to the state, nor to the schools, nor to the retail dealer. One of our local dealers has sold seven hundred dollars worth of books within the last week or two and the small percentage he receives on sales is the only part of this sum that remains in the community.

THE FALLIBILITY OF STATISTICS.

Some one with an imaginative genius which qualified him rather for a poet than a dealer in stern facts, was guilty, we know not how long ago, of originating the phrase, "Figures will not lie." And curiously enough and possibly just for the purpose of proving their versatility, figures have been lying ever since. Not lying all the time and consistently, but spasmodically and with a delightful air of irresponsibility. There are folks who delight in statistics, feed on them, gloat on them, inhale and exhale them. But the mass of mankind look upon them with awe as something too sacred to be lightly dealt with and as being especially designed for the purpose of clinching an argument. During the Free Trade versus Protection campaigns in '88 and '92 statistics based on percentages were cunningly used to bolster up the argument of the free traders. The figures would not bear investigation, but they appealed in their impressive and weighty manner to that large body of citizens who do not investigate, and so to some extent served their fell purpose. When the proponent of the theories of Socialism condescends to take his eyes for a moment from the rainbow and come down to earth, he will quote you with every appearance of sincerity statistics showing what he claims to be the exact cost of the production of a bushel of wheat or a pound of potatoes, although not a farmer in the country with all the experience of the ages behind him dare attempt to tell you within fifty per cent. what the income or the output for his wheat field for the coming year will be. One of this class of writers, Mr. Robert T. Hunter, has written a book on Socialists at work which is said to be "a very valuable record of socialist movements." In attempting to show how very large a proportion of the people are paupers, Mr. Hunter quotes the record of persons receiving public aid in Boston during the year, and makes a tremendously impressive showing. The result is obtained by taking the returns by the month throughout the year and quoting the aggregate. He entirely forgets in his calculation to consider the fact that a very large number of the recipients of public bounty, are chronic cases, the same individuals receiving aid month after month and even in many instances year after year. For instance, it is very evident that if five thousand persons receive public charity every month, this does not necessarily indicate that sixty thousand different individuals are so assisted or supported during the year? Yet of such stuff are many of the current statements made which are very generally used as texts.

Mr. Hunter asserts that more advantages were enjoyed by the day's work class of laborers in the "good old times" before the introduction of machinery. Neither statistics nor a jaundiced mind can produce proof of this assertion. But it is the old, old story—"the old times were better than the new." Twenty-five hundred years ago the pessimists of his time were making this assertion and Confucius was denying it!
